

Rome Research Seminar Program 2023

The Institute for Religion and Critical Inquiry sponsors seminars at the University's Rome Campus to stimulate international research collaboration, advance transnational research student education, and communicate innovative research to a public audience.

The 2023 Program of Events includes a conference for a general and academic audience, specialist research seminars, an HDR training collaboration, and a public lecture.

Event	Research Program	Convenor / IRCI Program	Month
Loneliness and Belonging Conference	Institute for Religion and Critical Inquiry – ACU Harvard Human Flourishing Program	Dr Jonathan Teubner - Religion and Theology	January
Makarios: Character and Virtue in the Christian Tradition	Institute for Religion and Critical Inquiry – ACU Harvard Human Flourishing Program Lonergan Institute - Boston College Institute for the Study of Religion - Baylor University	A/Prof Matthew Crawford - Biblical and Early Christian Studies	May
Agency, Vulnerability, and Relationality	Redeeming Autonomy	Prof Christopher Insole, A/Prof David Kirchhoffer and Dr Benjamin DeSpain – Religion and Theology	May
Hermeneutics and Transcendence: Toward a Synthesis	Widening Horizons in Philosophical Theology funded by Templeton Research Trust	Dr Darren Sarisky – Religion and Theology	May
Resurrection, Transformation, and the 'Ends' of Life in the Face of Death	Flourishing in Early Christianity	Dr Kylie Crabbe and Dr Jonathan Zecher - Biblical and Early Christian Studies	September
Creativity under Constraint in Early Christianity	Flourishing in Early Christianity	Dr Dawn LaValle Norman, A/Prof. Stephen Carlson, and Dr Michael Hanaghan - Biblical and Early Christian Studies	September
God and Creation	Theologies of Catholicity	Dr Philip McCosker, Prof Judith Wolfe and Prof Stephan Van Erp - Religion and Theology	October
Method in Theology: HDR Training Collaboration	Institute for Religion and Critical Inquiry - ACU KU Leuven University of Toronto	Dr Philip McCosker - Religion and Theology	October
Public Lecture: Priests' Wives in Medieval Europe - Excavating a Forgotten History of Women	Prof. Fiona Griffiths, Professor of History, Chair, Department of Religious Studies, Stanford University	Prof Christopher Ocker - Medieval and Early Modern Studies	October
Crossroads of Communication	Religious Mobilities	Prof Christopher Ocker - Medieval and Early Modern Studies	October